

DX-0202

FOUNDED 2016

This Company has developed and commercialized the most comprehensive solution for desktop 3DP. Having obtained a global brand licensing agreement from Kodak, the Company launched the KODAK Portrait 3D Printer, the most capable desktop 3D printer specifically for engineering. The Company offers local and cloud-based printer management software and design services. In addition, the KODAK 3D printing filament boasts over a dozen top quality materials.

Now in the final stages of development, the Company is launching its first industrial solutions offering for the production of end-use parts. This disruptive technology will enable manufacturing companies to transition from creation to low-volume production through a seamless process, saving cost and time while facilitating the adoption of additive manufacturing in standard production plants.
